TWELVE SIGNS WISDOM

YOUR 2027

A PERSONAL YEAR-AHEAD READING

PREPARED FOR

Margaret Ellis

Born April 2, 1968, 6:40 AM, Columbus, Ohio

Astrology as a mirror for reflection, never fixed fate.

YOUR CHART AT A GLANCE

The sky at your birth

YOUR SUN

12°48′ Aries · 1st house

Your Sun is in Aries, in your first house, the part of the chart about who you are and how you walk into a room. Aries is the sign that starts things. With the Sun here you are at your best when you move first, decide quickly and say the plain thing out loud.

YOUR MOON

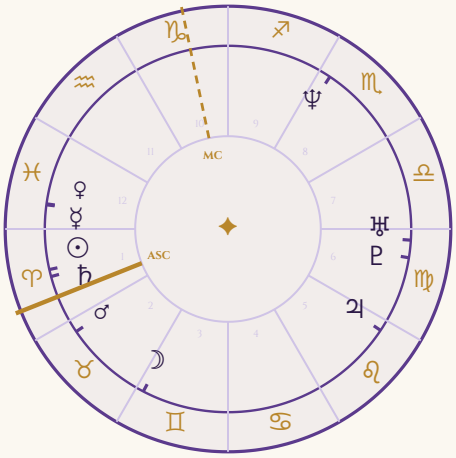

2°28′ Gemini · 3rd house

Your Moon is in Gemini, in your third house of conversations, learning and siblings. The Moon shows what settles you, and for you it is talk: a long phone call, a new subject, a short drive to see someone. A restless mind is not a flaw here. It is how you rest.

YOUR RISING SIGN

21°40′ Aries

Your rising sign is also Aries, the sign that was coming up over the eastern horizon at the minute you were born. It describes your first impression and your instinctive way of meeting life. With Sun and rising in the same sign, what people see is what they get: direct, quick and warm.

Sun	12°48' Aries	1st
Moon	2°28' Gemini	3rd
Mercury	22°24' Pisces	12th
Venus	22°05' Pisces	12th
Mars	4°03' Taurus	2nd
Jupiter	26°25' Leo R	5th
Saturn	15°02' Aries	1st
Uranus	26°30' Virgo R	6th
Neptune	26°12' Scorpio R	8th
Pluto	20°59' Virgo R	6th

Houses are whole-sign, counted from your rising sign. R = retrograde at birth.

HOW TO READ THIS REPORT A sign is a style. A house is an area of life. A transit is a planet in the sky of 2027 reaching a point in your birth chart. Your dates are exact to the day, in Eastern Time.

A YEAR FOR REBUILDING FROM THE GROUND UP

Margaret, 2027 is one of the more important years of your adult life, and most of its weight falls in the first three months. Saturn, the planet of structure and time, comes back to the exact place it held when you were born. Astrologers call this a Saturn return, and yours is exact on March 17. On the way there it crosses your Sun on February 26, so the question of the season is plain: what do you want the years ahead to stand on? While Saturn does that slow work, Uranus, the planet of sudden change, meets your Moon on March 22 and shakes something loose in how you think, talk and spend your days.

After April the pace eases. Summer belongs to Jupiter, which returns to its own birth position on July 7 and reminds you what you enjoy, just as a total solar eclipse on August 2 lights up the same part of your chart. Autumn is quieter and more inward, and the year closes with Saturn back at your rising degree, asking you to carry the new shape into 2028.

YOUR YEAR ON ONE PAGE

Each bar shows when a transit is felt. A white dot marks the day it is exact.

Something shakes loose in your daily world

WHEN

Uranus meets your Moon

Exact March 22, felt from before the year opens until April 15.

Uranus in Gemini, your 3rd house

Uranus takes about 84 years to circle the zodiac, so it meets your Moon only once in a lifetime. Astrologers call this a conjunction, which simply means two points sharing the same degree. It has been building since before the year opened, it is exact on March 22, and it fades by April 15. The Moon in a chart is your emotional base, the habits and people that make you feel at home. Uranus is the planet of surprise and freedom.

When the two meet, routines that felt fixed can suddenly feel too small. Because both sit in your third house, the change tends to arrive through everyday channels: a conversation that goes somewhere unexpected, news from a brother or sister, a sudden wish to learn something completely new, or a change in how you get around. Your moods may be quicker than usual in March, and you may want more time to yourself. None of that means something is wrong.

It usually means some part of you is ready for more room. The useful question this spring is a simple one. Where have you been repeating yourself out of habit, and what would you try if nobody expected you to stay the same?

TRY THIS

Before March 22, pick one small routine and change it on purpose: a different route, a class, a call to someone you have not spoken to in years. Giving the restlessness a job is easier than waiting for it to choose one.

Saturn comes home: your second return

WHEN

Saturn meets your Sun

Exact February 26, felt from February 16 until March 7.

Saturn in Aries, your 1st house

Saturn meets your rising degree

Exact May 10, felt from May 1 until May 18; then exact November 26 (retrograde), felt from November 9 until after the year ends.

Saturn in Aries, your 1st house

Your Saturn return

Exact March 17, felt from March 9 until March 25.

Saturn in Aries, your 1st house

Saturn squares your Midheaven

Exact February 17, felt from February 7 until February 26.

Saturn in Aries, your 1st house

This is the main story of your year. Saturn takes about 29 and a half years to go around the zodiac, so it returns to its birth position around ages 29, 59 and 88. Yours is exact on March 17 and felt from March 9 until March 25. Because your Sun and your rising degree sit close to your Saturn in Aries, the same planet touches all three within a single year, which is unusual. It begins with a square to your Midheaven on February 17, a 90 degree angle astrologers read as friction, here between who you are becoming and the role people know you for.

On February 26 Saturn meets your Sun, and the weeks from February 16 until March 7 can feel heavy, serious and oddly clarifying. Then comes the return itself. In May Saturn reaches your rising degree, exact on May 10, and it comes back to that point on November 26 while retrograde, staying close into the new year. Everything here happens in your first house, the house of self. So the work is personal: your energy, your time, the commitments you carry, and the way you present yourself. Saturn rewards the honest edit. What you keep after this year tends to last.

TRY THIS

Write down the three commitments that take most of your time, and next to each one write whether you would choose it again today. Act on one answer before March 17.

A slow pressure on what you value

WHEN

Pluto squares your Mars

Was exact in December 2026 and is fading, felt from before the year opens until January 23; then comes within 0.7° October 17 without becoming exact, felt from September 11 until November 22.

Pluto in Aquarius, your 11th house

Pluto is the slowest planet astrologers use, and its transits work like weather systems, not single days. It formed a square to your Mars, a 90 degree angle read as friction, at the end of 2026. That first wave is fading as the year opens and is gone by January 23. It comes back in the autumn, felt from September 11 until November 22 and closest on October 17, though this time it does not become exact. Mars in your chart is drive: how you go after things and how you defend them.

It sits in your second house, which is about your resources and what you consider worth your effort. Pluto is moving through your eleventh house of friends, groups and long-term hopes. Put together, the pressure tends to show up between your own priorities and a group you belong to: a circle of friends, a club, a committee, a community. You may feel pushed to give more than suits you, or notice that a shared goal no longer matches what you value.

Pluto's method is to remove what has stopped being true. The helpful response is not a fight. It is a clear, calm statement of what you will and will not put your energy into.

TRY THIS

In January, and again in early autumn, check one group commitment against your own priorities. If it costs more than it gives, say so plainly and kindly.

21

Jupiter returns: joy gets a second look

WHEN

Jupiter squares your Moon
Exact August 6, felt from August 2 until August 11.
Jupiter in Virgo, your 6th house

Your Jupiter return
Exact January 1 (retrograde), felt from before the year opens until January 13; then exact July 7, felt from July 2 until July 13.
Jupiter in Leo, your 5th house

Jupiter opposes your Venus
Exact November 11, felt from November 5 until November 18.
Jupiter in Virgo, your 6th house

Jupiter opposes your Mercury
Exact November 13, felt from November 7 until November 20.
Jupiter in Virgo, your 6th house

Jupiter comes back to its birth position about every twelve years, and astrologers treat each return as the start of a new cycle of growth. You get two passes. The first is exact on January 1, while Jupiter is retrograde and reviewing, and it fades by January 13. The second, moving forward, is exact on July 7 and felt from July 2 until July 13. Your Jupiter is in Leo in your fifth house of joy, creativity, romance and children, so the theme is pleasure with a purpose: the hobby you dropped, the people who make you laugh, time with the young ones in your life if you have them.

January asks what you enjoyed and let slide. July is the green light. On July 26 Jupiter moves into Virgo and your sixth house of daily work and routines, and the mood turns practical. A square to your Moon on August 6 can make you overpromise your time, so leave gaps in the calendar. In November Jupiter opposes your Venus on November 11 and your Mercury on November 13. An opposition is a face-off between two sides of life, here between busy days and your need for quiet. Protect the quiet.

TRY THIS

Around July 7, start one thing purely because you like it, and give it a fixed hour in the week before August fills up.

A SOFTER VOICE UNDER THE NOISE

WHEN

Neptune sextiles your Moon

Exact February 5, felt from before the year opens until March 7.

Neptune in Aries, your 1st house

Not everything in the first quarter is heavy. Neptune, the planet of imagination, intuition and compassion, forms a sextile to your Moon. A sextile is a 60 degree angle that astrologers read as an opening, a helpful chance if you take it. It has been in place since before the year began, is exact on February 5, and fades by March 7. Neptune is travelling through your first house, slowly softening how you see yourself, and your Moon sits in your third house of conversations and learning.

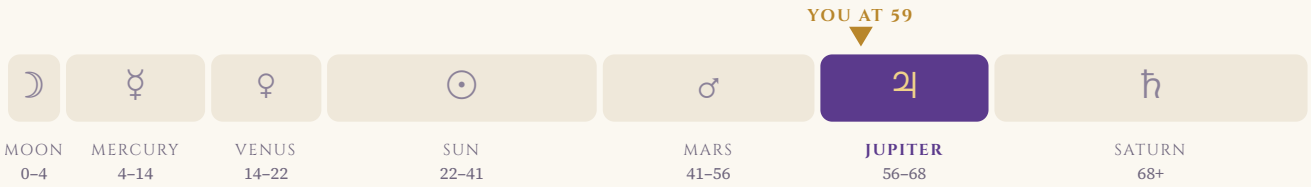

Together they favour gentle, honest talk, the kind where you say what you feel without having to win. It is a good stretch for writing things down, for music, for prayer or meditation if those are yours, and for mending a small misunderstanding with a sibling, a neighbour or an old friend. The timing matters. This quiet influence overlaps the weeks when Saturn is at its most demanding, almost like a hand on the shoulder. When February feels like all duty, this is the reminder that you are allowed to be kind to yourself while you do the hard thing. Listen for the softer thought underneath the loud one.

TRY THIS

Keep a notebook by your chair through February and write three lines each evening. By March 7 you may find it has turned into a plain record of what you actually want.

YOUR LIFE CHAPTER

The age of Jupiter, with Saturn knocking

Almost 1,900 years ago the astrologer Ptolemy divided a human life into seven ages, each ruled by a planet. At 59 you are in the age of Jupiter, which runs from 56 to 68. He described it as the time to step back from the hardest labour and turn toward counsel, honour and a longer view. Your year matches that picture closely. Your Jupiter return, exact on January 1 and again on July 7, renews the planet that rules this whole chapter of your life.

And your second Saturn return, exact on March 17, marks the point where astrologers say a person becomes an elder in the best sense: someone whose experience is finally worth more than their speed. Your solar return, your personal new year, falls on April 2 at 2:39 PM, soon after Saturn has done its work. It is a fitting moment to set one intention for the decade ahead. Not a resolution, just a direction.

Your solar return

April 2 at 2:39 PM

The Sun back at its birth position: your personal new year.

Your Saturn return

Exact March 17, felt from March 9 until March 25.

Your Jupiter return

Exact January 1 (retrograde), felt from before the year opens until January 13; then exact July 7, felt from July 2 until July 13.

The long clocks of your life · calculated for your birth chart

Age 18–19	1987	Uranus square: the first big break for independence
Age 29	1997–98	First Saturn return
Age 41	2009–10	Uranus opposition: the midlife turn
Age 58	2027	Second Saturn return THIS YEAR
Age 63–64	2031–32	Uranus closing square: freedom in later life
Age 83–84	2051–52	Uranus return
Age 88	2056	Third Saturn return
Every 12 years	Jupiter returns: 1979 · 1991 · 2003 · 2015 · 2026–27 · 2038–39 · 2050–51 · 2062

Five eclipses in your chart

A solar eclipse is a strong new moon, a beginning. A lunar eclipse is a strong full moon, a closing. Times are Eastern Time.

February 6

10:59 AM
17°38' Aquarius

Annular solar eclipse in Aquarius · your 11th house

The first eclipse of the year is a solar one on February 6, in Aquarius and your eleventh house of friends, groups and hopes. A solar eclipse is a strong new moon, a reset. This one invites a fresh look at who you spend your time with and which long-term hope still feels alive. One new connection made this month can matter more than it seems.

February 20

6:12 PM
1°59' Virgo

Penumbral lunar eclipse in Virgo · your 6th house

Two weeks later, on February 20, a lunar eclipse falls in Virgo and your sixth house of daily work, routines and habits. Lunar eclipses are strong full moons and tend to bring something to a close. A habit or a duty that has quietly run its course may show itself now. Let it end without making it a drama.

July 18

12:02 PM
25°58' Capricorn

Penumbral lunar eclipse in Capricorn · your 10th house

On July 18 a lunar eclipse lights up Capricorn and your tenth house of career, reputation and public role. Something about how the world knows you comes to a natural finish line: a title, a responsibility, an old expectation. It arrives soon after your Jupiter return, so you may find you are happy to set it down.

August 2

6:06 AM
9°55' Leo

Total solar eclipse in Leo · your 5th house

The headline eclipse of 2027 is the total solar eclipse of August 2, in Leo and your fifth house of joy, creativity, romance and children. It lands in the same house as your Jupiter, less than a month after your Jupiter return. Read it as a strong new beginning for whatever you make or do purely for love.

August 17

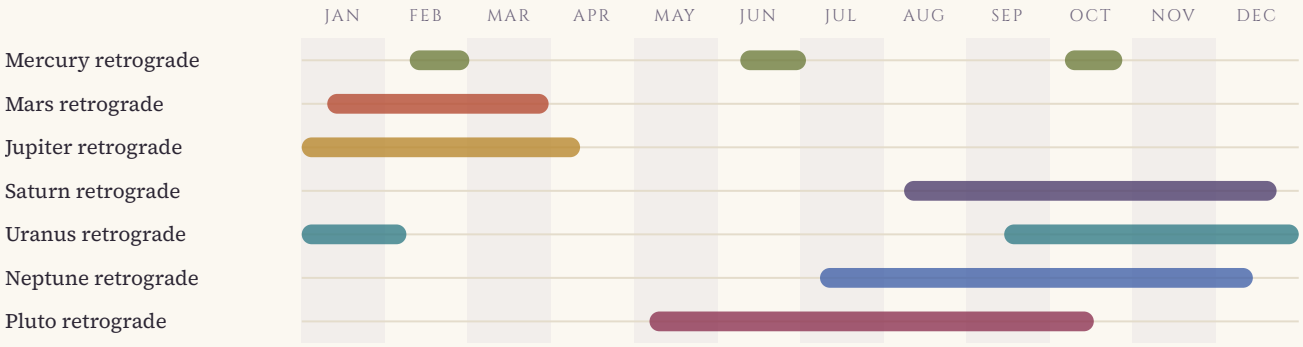

3:13 AM
24°04' Aquarius

Penumbral lunar eclipse in Aquarius · your 11th house

The last eclipse, on August 17, returns to Aquarius and your eleventh house, and it falls opposite your Jupiter. It closes the story the February eclipse opened. A friendship, a group or a shared plan reaches a turning point, and you may notice a pull between what the group wants and what you enjoy. Choose the version that leaves room for both.

The review periods of your year

A planet never really moves backward. It only looks that way from Earth as we pass it, like overtaking a slower car. Astrologers read these weeks as time to review, not as bad luck.

☿ February 9 – March 3

Mercury in Pisces and Aquarius

From February 9 to March 3 Mercury reviews your twelfth house of rest and solitude, then your eleventh house of friends and groups. Plans made with others may need a second conversation. Reread messages before sending, and give yourself more quiet than usual.

☿ June 10 – July 4

Mercury in Cancer and Gemini

From June 10 to July 4 the review moves to your fourth house of home and family, then your third house of conversations and siblings. Old family stories resurface. It is a fine time to sort photographs, return a call, or finish a repair you started long ago.

☿ October 7 – October 28

Mercury in Scorpio and Libra

From October 7 to October 28 Mercury backtracks through your eighth house of deep bonds and shared resources, then your seventh house of partners. Read shared paperwork twice and ask instead of assuming. A conversation you thought was finished may deserve a kinder ending.

♂ January 10 – April 1

Mars in Virgo and Leo

Mars, the ruling planet of your Sun sign, is retrograde from January 10 to April 1, first in your sixth house of daily work and routines, then in your fifth house of joy and creativity. For an Aries this can feel like driving with the handbrake on. Use it. Fix the systems that slow you down, and return to a creative project you set aside. The push forward returns in April.

The slow planets

Jupiter to Pluto

The slow planets each spend several months of every year in retrograde, so these are seasons, not events. Jupiter reviews your fifth house of joy until April 12. Uranus turns forward on February 8 and backward again on September 15, both in your third house. Pluto reconsiders your eleventh house of friends from May 8 to October 17. From July 9 Neptune, and from August 9 Saturn, retrace their steps through your first house, giving you the autumn to settle into the changes of spring. Both turn forward in December.

January

- New Moon · Jan 7 · Capricorn · 10th
- Full Moon · Jan 22 · Leo · 5th
- Your Jupiter return · Jan 1

Look back before you leap

The year opens on your Jupiter return, exact on January 1, so start by asking what you used to love doing. The New Moon on January 7 in your tenth house of public role is a good day to name one aim for the year. Mars turns retrograde on January 10, which slows your usual pace. The Full Moon on January 22 lights your fifth house of joy. Plan something that is only for fun.

February

- New Moon eclipse · Feb 6 · Aquarius · 11th
- Full Moon eclipse · Feb 20 · Virgo · 6th
- Neptune sextiles your Moon · Feb 5
- Jupiter trines your rising degree · Feb 13
- Saturn squares your Midheaven · Feb 17
- Saturn meets your Sun · Feb 26

The serious month

February is the busiest month of your year. Neptune's gentle sextile to your Moon is exact on February 5, and the eclipse on February 6 refreshes your circle of friends. Then Saturn takes over: it squares your Midheaven on February 17 and meets your Sun on February 26. You may feel the weight of your responsibilities, and see them more clearly too. The eclipse on February 20 helps you drop a worn-out routine. Keep the diary light.

March

- New Moon · Mar 8 · Pisces · 12th
- Full Moon · Mar 22 · Libra · 7th
- Your Saturn return · Mar 17
- Uranus meets your Moon · Mar 22

Your turning point

Mercury turns direct on March 3 and the fog of February lifts. The New Moon on March 8 falls in your twelfth house of rest, so take a quiet weekend before the big week. Your Saturn return is exact on March 17. On March 20 the Sun enters Aries, and on March 22 Uranus meets your Moon under a Full Moon in your seventh house of partners. Decisions made now tend to hold. Make them slowly.

April

- New Moon · Apr 6 · Aries · 1st
- Full Moon · Apr 20 · Scorpio · 8th

A new year of your own

Mars turns direct on April 1 and your energy comes back. Your solar return on April 2 is your personal new year. The New Moon on April 6 is in Aries, in your first house, right on your Saturn: a clean first page for everything March decided. Jupiter turns direct on April 12, and the pressure of the winter is behind you. The Full Moon on April 20 in your eighth house favours an honest talk with someone close.

May

- New Moon · May 6 · Taurus · 2nd
- Full Moon · May 20 · Scorpio · 8th
- Saturn meets your rising degree · May 10

Showing the new shape

The New Moon on May 6 in your second house is a practical one, good for a fresh look at what you have to work with. On May 10 Saturn meets your rising degree, the point of the chart that describes how you meet the world. People may notice a steadier, more settled you. The Full Moon on May 20 is the second in a row in Scorpio and your eighth house, so last month's honest talk gets its follow-up.

June

- New Moon · Jun 4 · Gemini · 3rd
- Full Moon · Jun 18 · Sagittarius · 9th
- Jupiter trines your rising degree · Jun 9
- Saturn trines your Jupiter · Jun 28

Easy weather, good company

June is the lightest month so far. The New Moon on June 4 lands in your third house, the house where your Moon lives, and favours visits, classes and catching up. Jupiter forms a trine, an easy 120 degree angle, to your rising degree on June 9, which tends to bring goodwill your way. Mercury turns retrograde on June 10, so confirm travel details twice. On June 28 Saturn trines your Jupiter: effort and enjoyment finally pull in the same direction.

July

- New Moon · Jul 3 · Cancer · 4th
- Full Moon eclipse · Jul 18 · Capricorn · 10th
- Your Jupiter return · Jul 7

The green light

The New Moon on July 3 is in your fourth house of home, opposite your Midheaven, a good day to put home before work. Mercury turns direct on July 4, and on July 7 your Jupiter return is exact: the best date of the year to begin something you love. The lunar eclipse on July 18 closes a chapter in your public life. On July 26 Jupiter enters Virgo and your sixth house, and attention turns to daily habits.

August

- New Moon eclipse · Aug 2 · Leo · 5th
- Full Moon eclipse · Aug 17 · Aquarius · 11th
- New Moon · Aug 31 · Virgo · 6th
- Mars opposes your Sun · Aug 5
- Jupiter squares your Moon · Aug 6
- Jupiter trines your Mars · Aug 14
- Mars opposes your rising degree · Aug 19

Eclipse season, full calendar

The total solar eclipse on August 2 opens the month in your fifth house of joy. Then it gets crowded. Mars opposes your Sun on August 5 and Jupiter squares your Moon on August 6, a pairing that can leave you short-tempered and overbooked in the same week. Say no early. Jupiter's trine to your Mars on August 14 gives you the energy back. The eclipse on August 17 tests a friendship, and the New Moon on August 31 resets your routines.

September

- ○ Full Moon · Sep 15 · Pisces · 12th
- ● New Moon · Sep 29 · Libra · 7th
- ✦ Mars opposes your Mars · Sep 8
- ✦ Jupiter trines your Midheaven · Sep 19
- ✦ Saturn trines your Jupiter · Sep 20

Quiet work, kind words

Pluto's slow pressure on your Mars returns from September 11, so watch where a group asks too much of you. The Full Moon on September 15 falls in your twelfth house, right on your Mercury and Venus, and can bring a tender thought to the surface. Write it down. Jupiter trines your Midheaven on September 19, a helpful day for anything public, and Saturn trines your Jupiter again on September 20. The New Moon on September 29 favours a fresh start with a partner.

October

- ○ Full Moon · Oct 15 · Aries · 1st
- ● New Moon · Oct 29 · Scorpio · 8th
- ✦ Mars opposes your Moon · Oct 19

Seeing yourself clearly

Mercury is retrograde from October 7 to October 28, so let slow answers be slow. The Full Moon on October 15 is in Aries, on your rising degree: a clear look in the mirror at how far you have come since spring. Pluto turns direct on October 17, the day its square to your Mars is closest. Mars opposes your Moon on October 19, which can make feelings run hot for a few days. The New Moon on October 29 opposes your Mars. Rest before you react.

November

- ○ Full Moon · Nov 13 · Taurus · 2nd
- ● New Moon · Nov 27 · Sagittarius · 9th
- ✦ Jupiter opposes your Venus · Nov 11
- ✦ Jupiter opposes your Mercury · Nov 13
- ✦ Saturn meets your rising degree · Nov 26

Protect the quiet

Jupiter opposes your Venus on November 11 and your Mercury on November 13, the same day as a Full Moon in your second house. Busy days pull against your need for peace, and it is easy to say yes to too much. Choose the few things that matter. Pluto's pressure lifts after November 22. On November 26 Saturn returns to your rising degree, and the New Moon on November 27 in your ninth house turns your mind to travel, study or faith.

December

- ○ Full Moon · Dec 13 · Gemini · 3rd
- ● New Moon · Dec 27 · Capricorn · 10th

Forward again

The Full Moon on December 13 falls in Gemini and your third house, the house of your own Moon, and it is a lovely night for a long conversation. Neptune turns direct on December 15 and Saturn on December 23, both in your first house, so the year ends with the two planets that reshaped you moving forward again. The New Moon on December 27 in your tenth house asks one question: what do you want to be known for next?

KEEP THIS PAGE

Your key dates for 2027

Exact to the day, in Eastern Time. The dates in bold belong to the main themes of your year.

January 1	Your Jupiter return (retrograde pass)
February 5	Neptune sextiles your Moon
February 6	Annular solar eclipse in Aquarius — your 11th house
February 13	Jupiter trines your rising degree (retrograde pass)
February 17	Saturn squares your Midheaven
February 20	Penumbral lunar eclipse in Virgo — your 6th house
February 26	Saturn meets your Sun
March 17	Your Saturn return
March 22	Uranus meets your Moon
April 2	Your solar return: the Sun comes back to its exact place at your birth
April 6	New Moon in Aries conjunct your Saturn
May 10	Saturn meets your rising degree
June 9	Jupiter trines your rising degree
June 28	Saturn trines your Jupiter
July 3	New Moon in Cancer opposite your Midheaven
July 7	Your Jupiter return
July 18	Penumbral lunar eclipse in Capricorn — your 10th house
August 2	Total solar eclipse in Leo — your 5th house
August 5	Mars opposes your Sun
August 6	Jupiter squares your Moon
August 14	Jupiter trines your Mars
August 17	Penumbral lunar eclipse in Aquarius — your 11th house, opposite your Jupiter
August 19	Mars opposes your rising degree
September 8	Mars opposes your Mars
September 15	Full Moon in Pisces conjunct your Mercury and your Venus
September 19	Jupiter trines your Midheaven
September 20	Saturn trines your Jupiter (retrograde pass)
October 15	Full Moon in Aries conjunct your rising degree
October 19	Mars opposes your Moon
October 29	New Moon in Scorpio opposite your Mars
November 11	Jupiter opposes your Venus
November 13	Jupiter opposes your Mercury
November 26	Saturn meets your rising degree (retrograde pass)

ONE LAST THING

How to use this year

A year like this one does not come often. Saturn returns to the same place only two or three times in a life, and yours arrives alongside a fresh Jupiter cycle and a once-in-a-lifetime visit from Uranus to your Moon. Read these pages as a map, not a schedule. The sky describes the weather. You still choose the road. Come back to the key dates as the months unfold, and notice what was true for you.

How this report was made

Every position and date in these pages was calculated for your birth data with standard astronomical methods, the same kind used to predict eclipses. We use the tropical zodiac and whole-sign houses counted from your rising sign. A transit is described as "felt" while the planet is within 1 degree of the exact angle. Dates and times are in Eastern Time; if you live elsewhere, an event close to midnight can fall on the neighbouring day.

The interpretation is written for reflection and enjoyment. It is not a prediction, and it is not medical, legal or financial advice. You know your own life better than any chart does.

Is something wrong? If your birth date, time or place on the cover is not right, reply to the email this report came with. We will recalculate and send you a corrected report at no charge.

TWELVE SIGNS WISDOM

New videos for all twelve signs: youtube.com/@TwelveSignsWisdom